

First in Region, Putnam Health Department Receives National Accreditation

The Putnam County Department of Health (PCDOH) achieved national accreditation by the Public Health Accreditation Board (PHAB) on March 8. The five-year designation demonstrates increased accountability and credibility to the public, funders, elected officials and partner organizations. The accreditation process works to ultimately transform the quality and performance of the nation's more than 2,500 health departments. The PCDOH is one of fewer than 200 to have achieved this honor.

"This achievement is the result of four years of focused work by the health department," said County Executive MaryEllen Odell. "We should be very proud. We are the first county in the Hudson Valley and one of a select few from among the many counties in New York State."

Michael J. Nesheiwat, MD, Interim Health Commissioner, said, "This is an important national designation. Hospitals need to be accredited; now health departments can take up a similar challenge. This accomplishment of our county's health department serves to reassure our residents that we have an efficient and effective public health system."

PHAB president and CEO Kaye Bender, PhD, RN, FAAN, said, "The Putnam County Department of Health joins the growing ranks of accredited health departments in a strong commitment to their public health mission." Residents served by a nationally accredited health department can be reassured that their health department has demonstrated the capacity to protect and promote the health of their community."

The health department's journey to PHAB accreditation initially began in 2012 with the preliminary pre-accreditation process of strategic planning. Then in August 2013, a formal statement of intent was submitted to the accreditation board. The process wrapped up in early January 2016 with a two-day site visit by a team of trained peer examiners, familiar with typical health department procedures, who scrutinized documents and questioned staff members in face-to-face discussions.

From start to finish, partners throughout the county and nearly every staff member of the health department were engaged. The accreditation process also provided a way to measure health department performance against a set of national standards, while increasing communication and collaboration with community partners and identifying areas for improvement in the Community Health Improvement Plan. The PCDOH examined their own operations, services and mission, and formulated a strategic plan and workforce development plan. When all was done, more than 1,080 electronic files were prepared and submitted, equaling more than 1.15 gigabytes of data.

The successful conclusion was reached at the PHAB board meeting on March 8, when committee members voted after reviewing the site visitors' final reports.

Launched in 2011, PHAB was created to serve as the national public health accreditation body and is jointly funded by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

The Health Department's mission is to improve and protect the health of the Putnam County community, composed of nearly 100,000 residents. Core services include community health assessment, disease surveillance and control, emergency preparedness, environmental health protection, family health promotion and health education. For more information, please visit the PCDOH website at www.putnamcountyny.com/health or visit the social media sites on Facebook at www.facebook.com/putnamhealth, www.facebook.com/RunWalkPutnam, www.instagram.com/PutnamHealthNY and Twitter @PutnamHealthNY.

Carmel-Kent Chamber Members Showcase Student Artwork

More than 120 works of art created by Carmel, Kent and Patterson students participating in the annual Carmel-Kent Chamber of Commerce Youth Art Month event are now on display throughout the chamber's region. The colorful pieces are the products of students ranging in grades from kindergarten through 12 and were selected by Carmel Central School District art instructors. All entries were then judged by representatives of the Chamber. This year's judges included Arts on the Lake board member Roy Volpe and Chamber board members Kathy Doherty and Bill Sampson.

Volpe, who has judged the YAM entries in the past was once again enthusiastic about the quality of the young artists' work.

"I love viewing the students' artwork," said Volpe. "We have some very talented young people in our schools."

Doherty and Sampson also enjoyed their first art judging assignment.

"I was very pleased to be asked to be a judge," said Doherty. "I found it wasn't as easy as I thought it might be. Trying to choose two pieces out of so many in each category was a challenge. I love what these talented art teachers are helping our students to do," she said.

Sampson was equally impressed.

"I really enjoyed being a judge with Kathy and Roy. At times, I found it hard to decide which piece should be awarded a First Place and which should be given an Honorable Mention. We had to talk it over a few times," Sampson said.

The matted and framed pictures can be viewed by the public at the Kent Public Library, Kent Town Hall, Patterson Town Hall, Patterson Recreation Department, Putnam County National Bank branches in Patterson, Putnam Plaza, Carmel, and Lake Carmel, PCSB Bank (Route 52 in Kent), Healy's Restaurant (Route 5, Kent), Gappy's Pizza (Route 52, Kent), Anthony's Jewelers (Route 52, Kent), Gold's Gym (Shoprite Plaza), and Putnam Hospital Center (Stoneleigh Ave., Carmel).

The artists will be honored by the Chamber at an evening art show and awards ceremony to be held in Carmel High School's Casey Hall at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, April 13. For further information on Youth Art Month, email Bill Nulk at Billnulk@comcast.net.

PROVIDED PHOTO

Carmel-Kent Chamber of Commerce Youth Art Month judges (L to R) Roy Volpe, Bill Sampson and Kathy Doherty. YAM Award Night is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Wed., April 13 in Carmel High School's Casey Hall.

Trumbull

PRINTING

Newspapers • Publications • Shoppers • Catalogs • Magazines
 Directories • Coupon Books • College Course Catalogs
 Business and Financial Periodicals
 Free Standing Inserts • Advertising Supplements

205 Spring Hill Road, Trumbull, CT 06611 • 203.261.2548
www.trumbullprinting.com